ETF DAYS as in-person conference

The XENIX ETF DAYS 2022 will take place on March 23rd and 24th, 2022 as an in-person event in Berlin. "We and our conference partners are convinced that direct dialogue about investment trends meets a real need to connect with people and to exchange information personally," says Wieland Thyssen, moderator of the ETF DAYS. The Berlin conference will strictly observe the 2-G-Plus rules.

ETFs and Crypto as well as sustainability and digitization

The XENIX ETF DAYS 2022 are a conference for professional investors. Their mix of topics is broad: ETFs for different asset classes, ETFs with different sustainability concepts, payment for order flow (PFOF) and ETF stock exchange trading as well as crypto indices and digital assets according to the German Electronic Securities Act (eWpG). In addition, the combination of specialist presentations followed by expert panels connects the power of people with the power of information on index-based investment solutions, which professional investors are currently asking for.

More resilient portfolios

"I look forward to hearing more about the latest investment developments in person at the XENIX ETF Days 2022 in Berlin. We believe that integrating environmental, social and governance considerations has the potential to build more resilient investment portfolios," says Dr. Valerio Schmitz-Esser, Head Index Solutions at Credit Suisse Asset Management, conference partner of the XENIX ETF DAYS 2022.
